

THE INDIAN JOURNAL of INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY LAW

EDITORIAL POLICY (2009-2010)

ABOUT THE JOURNAL

The Indian Journal of Intellectual Property Law (IJIPL) is India's sole student-run journal wholly devoted to intellectual property law. Published annually, it was first conceived as an idea in 2007 by the students of NALSAR University of Law, Hyderabad as a forum for the expression of ideas on intellectual property law by students across the country. As this vision grew, it was felt that the IJIPL must not just document student scholarship but must also serve to boost the intellectual property academia in the country. Therefore, the IJIPL strove to make available to its audience a wide range of eminent scholarship from across the globe. This has been amply reflected in the journal's first two volumes.

The force behind the IJIPL is its five-member student Editorial Board which is assisted by an Advisory Panel comprising of several renowned experts in the field of intellectual property law such as Prof. John Phillips, Dr. Peter Ganea, Prof. Shamnad Basheer, Joseph M. Beck and Pravin Anand. The IJIPL's success is, of course, also owed to the patronage of the Vice-Chancellor of NALSAR, Prof. (Dr.) Veer Singh and Hon'ble Mr. Justice U.C. Banerjee through the resident N.C. Banerjee Centre for Intellectual Property Studies. Now in its third year of publication, the IJIPL enjoys an outstanding reputation amongst law students and scholars alike. Its endeavour remains to foster this reputation and establish itself as among the premier intellectual property law journals in the world.
